

BANDIT CAPTURED IN SALOON FIGHT

John Dunn, Fifty-sixth and Market Streets, Battles With Man Single-Handed

OTHER ROBBERS FLEE

John Dunn, a saloonkeeper at Fifty-sixth and Market streets, captured one of four men who robbed his cash register after a fight last night. He battled the four men single-handed and finally subdued one, after his companions had fled, making a flying tackle as the bandit sped toward the door. The captured man said he was Willis Johnson, twenty-seven years old, of South Fifth-second street near Baltimore avenue. It was only after a ten-minute struggle that Dunn finally subdued the bandit, who had leaped over the bar and taken the money from the till while the other three men threatened the saloonkeeper. Dunn was in his saloon last night when four men, apparently under the influence of liquor, entered the place. After demanding drinks, one of the men suddenly leaped over the bar, and while the others held off Dunn, he rifled the cash register, taking out $21. Dunn tried to bring police aid by the use of the telephone. The other bandits interfered, however, and he was unable to get a connection. Meanwhile the man who had rifled the register was starting to leave. His companions hurried from the saloon when they saw the man coming, believing he was following them. They reckoned without Dunn, however. The saloonkeeper made a flying tackle and seized the man as he was about to hasten away. Dunn subdued him after a struggle, and then turned him over to the police of the Fifty-sixth and Pine streets station. The police are now searching for the other members of the gang.

PARENTS HURT; CHILD SAFE

Lindsay, of Cornwall Street, in Auto Upset in Collision
Charles Lindsay, of 628 Cornwall street, and his wife, Charlotte, were injured, but their daughter, Marion, eleven years old, escaped unhurt when their automobile upset in a collision with another machine at Sixteenth street and Montgomery avenue, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Lindsay's left arm and right hand were fractured. Lindsay's nose went through the windshield and he was gashed over the left eye and on the head. They received treatment at the Women's Homeopathic Hospital. Adam Heenerfauth, of 1714 North Seventeenth street, driver of the other car, was unhurt and his machine undamaged, while Lindsay's smaller car was wrecked. Both drivers were taken to the Twenty-eighth district police station and released on their own recognizance for a further hearing. Heenerfauth, according to the police, was driving north on Sixteenth street and Lindsay was going east on Montgomery avenue, when both drivers evidently misjudged the other's intention and were unable to avoid the collision.

CHURCHES JOIN IN SERVICES

Ten Logan Congregations Meet Sunday in Various Buildings
Ten churches of Logan are having union services Sunday evenings. All ten congregations assemble in one church, and in this manner a delightful spirit of church unity has been promoted. Next Sunday evening the worshippers will meet in the Olivet Reformed Church, Logan, and the Rev. Dr. Irving S. Chenoweth, pastor of the Boulevard Church, will preach the sermon. The following congregations of Logan are participating: Presbyterian, Methodist Episcopal, Reformed, United Brethren, Baptist, Lutheran, Evangelical, Christian, Protestant Episcopal and Reformed Episcopal. Each of these congregations worships in its own church Sunday mornings.

DR. PENNIMAN HAS BIRTHDAY

But U. of P. Head Celebrates It by Working Harder Than Ever
Dr. Josiah H. Penniman, acting provost of the University of Pennsylvania, is observing his fifty-second birthday anniversary today. The provost observed it as he does every other day, by appearing at his desk promptly at 9 o'clock. Hundreds of letters and telegrams from alumni and friends from all parts of the country came to his office during the morning, congratulating him on the event and his new-found honors during the last year. There were a few floral tributes, but Dr. Penniman was rather backward about acknowledging them, insisting he was still very much alive.

MRS. O'BRIEN SEES FLORIDA FOR G. O. P.

Former Philadelphia Society Woman Makes Prediction on Visit to Atlantic City

TURNED DOWN DEMOCRATS

Florida may be added to the Republican column in the near future. At least, that is the opinion of Mrs. John J. O'Brien, of Moore Haven, Fla., formerly Mrs. George Q. Horwitz, of this city, who is resting at the Ritz-Carlton, Atlantic City. Mrs. O'Brien, former Mayor of Moore Haven, last year refused the Democratic nomination for Governor, because she believed in the principles of the Republican Party. She bases her opinion that the Democratic rule will be overthrown on the ground that at the last election no fewer than eighteen cities and towns in the State showed Republican majorities. Since leaving Philadelphia a few years ago with the intention of establishing a homestead in the Everglades of Florida, Captain and Mrs. O'Brien have worked wonders in founding a community and a thriving business center in what was formerly a jungle. For the last two years they have been seeking to interest young American men in the future of the country, but with little success, and they have enlisted the aid of former British soldiers.

Resinol
Does wonders for poor complexion. It's surprising how rarely the proper use of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap fails to clear away redness, roughness, etc., and give the skin its natural freshness and charm. Sold by all druggists. Write for a sample. Dept. 3-T, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

INJURY KILLS THIRD DIVER

Oliver K. Skiles Dies of Broken Neck, as Did Others

His neck broken by a dive into shallow water at Delair, Camden County, on Sunday last, Oliver K. Skiles, twenty-two years old, of 20 North Paxon street, this city, died last night in Cooper Hospital, Camden, after a valiant battle for his life. Skiles was the third victim of careless diving in the neighborhood of Camden in a little more than a week. William Fields, twenty-two years old, of Grover street, Haddonfield, died on Monday in the same hospital. His neck was broken on Sunday afternoon when he dived into Hopkins Lake, Haddonfield. Skiles was taken to the hospital an hour later. On Sunday, August 10, Thomas Coyle, twenty-three years old, of 2433 South Bancroft street, this city, broke his neck in diving into Blackwood Lake. He died the following day in Cooper Hospital. Conscious almost to the last young Skiles fought desperately for life. Surgeons tried to relieve his pain by putting a leather harness about his head attached to which was a six-pound weight. That was done to relieve the pressure on two fractured vertebrae in his neck. Skiles dived into three feet of water.
